POST-OPERATIVE GOGGLES

Designed by Mr. Williamson-Noble and described by him in the August, 1950, issue of the British Journal of Ophthalmology to meet the need for a light, comfortable and inexpensive dark goggle for the exclusion of extraneous light after intra-ocular operations. The sides are fine wire mesh affording adequate ventilation and the fastening tapes are long enough to be tied at the side of the head to prevent discomfort to the patient lying in bed. They are made in three densities; pale, medium and dark.

Bodiam Castle

THE CASTLE at Bodiam, built prior to the year 1400 by Sir Edward Dalyngruge was, in its time, a model castle incorporating all the most modern devices for defence in war. To-day it stands peaceful, a reminder of the strength and elegance of things past.

The Best of the New . . . . .

THE SPILLER Library Supra has been designed for the patient who requires a frame that has exceptional strength combined with modern elegance of line and an unobstructed field of vision. It is obtainable in real tortoise-shell and a wide range of coloured plastics.
