STALLARD OPERATING SPECTACLES

These Operating Spectacles, designed by Mr. H. B. Stallard, F.R.C.S., were the subject of an article by him in the British Journal of Ophthalmology, October, 1950. They present the following advantages:—

(1) When the extension carrying the lenses is swung upwards in front of the forehead, there is no obstruction below or to the sides of the operator's field of view. (2) The lenses, being placed well in front of the operator's nose and the plane of his mask, never become steamed over. (3) The spectacles are very light and comfortable, exerting the minimum of pressure on nose and ears. (4) They can be folded flat into a small space.

The Best of the Old

Under full sail

THE legend of the square-rigged sailing ship can never die, even if in some future the sea is no longer used as a highway. The picture presented by the beautiful proportions and flowing lines of a three-masted vessel under all its canvas catches at the imagination of us all.

The Best of the New

THIS beautifully proportioned frame owes its flowing lines largely to its sides which are of an entirely new design. It is supplied in a wide range of charming colours and can be fitted with inset filigree adornments of untarnishable metal. The Ladybird frame is a triumph of modern grace.
